

Limited Edition: Watch out for coffee stains

April 1st, 2003

Volume 1, Number 00

April Fool!

The Landings Flamingo

More Eagle Controversy

Bonnie, Dee and Nordis have been seen quarreling over the Eagle statue at the gate. They resolved the parrot-beak issue, but are now arguing over a proposal to install a clock and thermometer in the eagle's chest. They cannot agree whether read-outs should be analogue or digital. They are presently researching the matter, and have proposed to LMA that a grant be awarded for further study. The LMA board riposted that the ladies should watch the weather channel and stop bugging the board.

Racket Club Decoration

After squabbling for several months about what color to paint the Landings Racket Clubhouse, a joint committee consisting of 12 different committees, decided they could not agree on a single color and they decided to decorate it in 16 colors.

The compromise will include green, aquamarine, salmon, chartreuse, flamingo pink (which was accepted after a threat of a walkout by The Peace and Love party's committee), and several other colors too obscure to have names. An alternative compromise involved contacting the Sherman Williams paint company scientists, who have specially formulated a paint, that will, when exposed to the sun, change colors every 52 weeks.

So if you don't like what you see, wait 'til next year.

Noted Trial Lawyer Enters Fray

After being contacted by a former cell mate, Johnny Cochran appeared at the Ben and Saul Peace and Love party rally. He was so impressed by the dynamics of the Flamingo-Eagle debacle, he declared that he would waive his normal fees and represent The Flamingo side. Ben and Saul said it would not be fair to work for nothing, so Jack Nussbaum pledged $300. He thought we said Jewish prune juice, when we really said.... "jurisprudence." Hey, a pledge is a pledge.

Johnny Cochran was last seen driving around the Landings in a white Ford Bronco. He stopped at the nature trail and was pitching his tent next to the bridge. (He does his best work when he's intense, he said.) At daybreak, after a

Peace and Love Party Goes to War

The Landings security chief has released secret information, gleaned from the FBI, the CIA and the Homeland Security Agency, that the Peace and Love party is a Communist front. The matter has been turned over to Senator Joe McCarthy's first born, Charlie, to bring these pinko flamingo-lovers to their knees. In response, the Peace and Love party has taken to arms. The noteworthy boobs in this picture are attached to the women, but at their necks, not at their chests.

night of deliberation, he said, "If it's the Eagle it ain't legal." He set forth a bill of particulars that challenged the sham vote that LMA made without consulting the common people.

"When they voted for the Eagle they gave you the bird," said F. Lee Bailey, who joined the defense team, after seeing Marcia Clark coming out of an LMA officer's condo, with nothing on except a smile. Ben, who recently converted to Judaism, sermonized, "This is a sin." The gathering, in one voice, chanted, "Oi Mayne."

Luxembourg Pumps It Up

Bob Luxembourg, our resident tennis impresario, has declared that when he built the Landings tennis facility, he retained the drilling rights for the property. He has proposed to the Landings Racquet Club board that he wants to build two oil rigs — if the Racquet club will pay for them. He in turn will split the profits from the venture using a formula based on the average temperature of the pool, divided by the number of members peering at the wells pumping on courts five and six. It will be a "beautiful thing," he declared, and he wants to share it with the members, if they agree to pay for additional seating and sun protection. The new board of the club is leaning towards solar energy. To say that things are "heating up," would be an understatement.

Employment for Landings Residents

Highly reliable sources have told us that the land that was used by the trailer park, adjacent to Racquet Club Board welcomes new tennis pro.

Flamingo Board of Directors

Anyone who identifies the second figure from the left gets a free subscription to the Landings Flamingo.

the south side of the Landings, and the Marina next to it on Phillippi creek, are under study to become a secret naval base. The new technology, Shallow Surface Submarine Harbor, or secret project SSSH, is in the feasibility phase. The Army corps of engineers has approved funds to open Midnight Pass to enable clear access for submarines into the Gulf of Mexico. This project will provide needed jobs for Landings, a great number of whom who are heavily invested in the stock market.

More Hot Air

Kevin Richards, the manager of the racquet club, has suggested a novel way to heat the pool. His plan is to capture all the hot air emitted during the morning shmooze sessions at the tables near the club house, and direct it towards the water. Jack Nussbaum pledged $18.00.

Enemy at the Gates

Larry "Bubba" Spelman, formerly of the law firm Howe, Dewey, Beatem and Cheatem, has completed his work release program. He is still president of LMA and proposes to install coin operated entrance gates. These will be one way tolls; exiting is free. "Bubba" has not said how

DEPRESSED OVER LOW
YIELD MONEY
MARKET INTEREST?
INVEST in the Ben and Saul's Peace and Love Party VERY promissory notes and feel REALLY depressed.

the toll money will be used. Jack Nussbaum has asked for a cut of the gate.

If You Believe This...

Nat "Little Plucker" Lehrman, a moniker given to him for his guitar strumming, was seen fondling panties in Victoria's Secret. He claims that he was looking for a "G" string for his instrument. The Little Plucker.

Conversation with Ben by Deidra Ricapellino

So, Ben, what effect have Saul and Nat had on your life?

It's really hard to explain, but I've had these two strange recurring dreams. Saul and I are standing on a train platform in Tel Aviv and Nat comes up to me and says, "Pardon me goy, is that the Be er Sheva choo choo?" I reply, "Yes, track twenty-nine," and I suddenly wake up with this uncontrollable urge to rush out and buy Glen Miller records.

Wow, that's really weird!

In the other dream, we are all in the Israeli Air Force. It's a Jewish kamikaze unit and we are running around shouting, "Torah, torah, torah!"

Have you ever considered professional help?

I know, Deidra, it's a little weird, but I'm a sensitive guy. I think I watch too much Oprah and Dr. Phil. Take this past Valentine's day. Dr. Phil said that a real man creates his own personal Valentine. He said write about what you know best from the heart. So I wrote:

Your tibiae are exquisite,
Your scapulae divine,
Your clavicles are sensuous,
Please say that you'll be mine!

That's really heavy. What did your wife Lynn say?

She just shook her head and said, "Thank God he's not a gynecologist!"

A Pun My Word

O Mio Meo Myo -- More Of Ben's Bio. His first love was not orthopedics, but dentistry. He topped the literary and medical charts when he wrote, "Adventure in Dentures," and it was widely said that it was something you could really dig your teeth into. He next wrote The Gravity of your Cavity, a new field of exploration for him. Patients would remark, "I really dig him and he never gives me the brush off." With these huge literary successes being more than a mouthful to handle, he proceeded to Wall Street, wherein he encouraged

Caught in the Act

Confidential sources have uncovered the above photo of Irwin Starr, Editor and Publisher of the Landings Eagle Newsletter, in the act of offering a buyout to agents of the Peace and Love party. The purpose? To annex the upstart Flamingo to the mother Eagle, and thus squash the competition. Fat chance, Irwin. Just watch our feathers!

Limited Edition: Watch out for coffee stains

April 1st, 2003

Volume 1, Number 00

April Fool!

The Landings Flamingo

More Eagle Controversy

Bonnie, Dee and Nordis have been seen quarreling over the Eagle statue at the gate. They resolved the parrot-beak issue, but are now arguing over a proposal to install a clock and thermometer in the eagle's chest. They cannot agree whether read-outs should be analogue or digital. They are presently researching the matter, and have proposed to LMA that a grant be awarded for further study. The LMA board riposted that the ladies should watch the weather channel and stop bugging the board.

Racket Club Decoration

After squabbling for several months about what color to paint the Landings Racket Clubhouse, a joint committee consisting of 12 different committees, decided they could not agree on a single color and they decided to decorate it in 16 colors.

The compromise will include green, aquamarine, salmon, chartreuse, flamingo pink (which was accepted after a threat of a walkout by The Peace and Love party's committee), and several other colors too obscure to have names. An alternative compromise involved contacting the Sherman Williams paint company scientists, who have specially formulated a paint, that will, when exposed to the sun, change colors every 52 weeks.

So if you don't like what you see, wait 'til next year.

Noted Trial Lawyer Enters Fray

After being contacted by a former cell mate, Johnny Cochran appeared at the Ben and Saul Peace and Love party rally. He was so impressed by the dynamics of the Flamingo-Eagle debacle, he declared that he would waive his normal fees and represent The Flamingo side. Ben and Saul said it would not be fair to work for nothing, so Jack Nussbaum pledged $300. He thought we said Jewish prune juice, when we really said.... "jurisprudence." Hey, a pledge is a pledge.

Johnny Cochran was last seen driving around the Landings in a white Ford Bronco. He stopped at the nature trail and was pitching his tent next to the bridge. (He does his best work when he's intense, he said.) At daybreak, after a

Peace and Love Party Goes to War

The Landings security chief has released secret information, gleaned from the FBI, the CIA and the Homeland Security Agency, that the Peace and Love party is a Communist front. The matter has been turned over to Senator Joe McCarthy's first born, Charlie, to bring these pinko flamingo-lovers to their knees. In response, the Peace and Love party has taken to arms. The noteworthy boobs in this picture are attached to the women, but at their necks, not at their chests.